Suppression of the Gypsy Moth

At Town Meeting the sum of $100.00 was raised and appropriated for Moth Extermination. It was intended to investigate conditions throughout the town and creosote the egg-clusters most available along the roadsides.

Under the supervision of Everett M. Hannaford this investigation was made early in the spring, several thousand egg-clusters were creosoted, and a considerable infestation was found in many sections.

Feeling that there was urgent need of following up this investigation with systematic work at once, the selectmen decided to draw from available funds in the treasury in order that the work might be started as soon as the leaves had fallen,

With Everett M. Hannaford as foreman all the roadsides northerly from the State Road were worked with the exception of about one mile on the Hancock road from Bond's Corner, and those southerly from the State Road were worked down as far as the Dublin Inn Club, thus leaving those roads in the south-east part of the town yet to be worked. 13,654 egg clusters were creosoted and bad infestations were found to exist near Mrs. Catlin's, the Dublin Lake Club, and the properties south of the Public Library and old hotel site. From the lake to the Marlboro line there are very few moths except small colonies near Monadnock Farms Nos. 2 and 3 and there are very few on the west and south sides of the lake.

A sufficient amount should be appropriated this year to cover the expense of completing the remaining roadsides of the town and places of greatest infestation. Creosote will be furnished those who wish to paint the nests on their own properties and it is hoped many people will do this and thereby help to keep our town free of this destructive pest.

REPORT OF SCHOOL BOARD

To the Citizens of the Dublin School District:

We herewith submit the one hundred and second annual report of our schools.

When school opened in the fall, it was found that a number of children of school age were living in No. 5 district. After due consideration, we decided it would be better, for various reasons, to carry these children to No. 1 school rather than open the one in No. 5 district. In the first place it was uncertain that the majority of the children would be there throughout the year. Also it would have been next to impossible to have secured a teacher as there was a great deficiency in the number available last fall. Moreover, if we had been able to obtain one her salary would undoubtedly have amounted to as large a sum as that of transportation.

Transporting these children filled No. 1 to capacity, especially the primary room. However, Miss Rabideau cheerfully assumed the added responsibility and has done very creditable work. In fact, we feel very well satisfied with the progress of both the primary and grammar grades at the village school.

In No. 3 district the school-room was also filled to capacity and has remained so throughout the year. Mrs. Richardson seems to enjoy her work there very much and apparently the children do also.

At No. 2, owing to illness, the attendance up to the present time has been very irregular. This has made it exceedingly difficult for the teacher as well as for the children who attend regularly.

Mr. Lynch, having resigned from the board in the fall on account of ill health, we endeavored to fill the vacancy, but, every one approached on the subject refused to consider it nor could they suggest anyone who might serve.

In regard to a permanent water supply at No. 1, the committee met and considered several possible sources, but, as it was found that water could be obtained for the present year from the usual source, nothing definite was done.

The following is our estimated Budget for the coming year:

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

To the School Board of Dublin:

Herewith is submitted for your consideration my fifth annual report on the condition of your schools and the work done in them.

TEACHERS

At the beginning of school in September all teachers were new to their positions. After careful investigation and consideration of different candidates the following corps were elected:

Village School:

Grammar, Mrs. Maude Frederick

Primary, Miss Gladys Rabadeau

Number 2, Miss Ruth Turner

Number 3, Mrs. Estelle H. Richardson

This constant change in the teaching force is, as all, perhaps, realize detrimental to the steady and continuous progress in the schools. Of course it is a condition that nearly all country towns face, in that the small rural schools do not offer the same incentives to the ambitious teacher as do the larger schools in villages and cities. No doubt the rural school ought to challenge the best that is in a teacher, and, with some teachers, this is the case, but in the majority of instances it is not true. The condition is a fact, not a theory. This being the case, it behooves any rural community, once it secures a good teacher, to retain her services if possible, even at the sacrifice of money and firmly established community notions, if necessary. The attitude of the community toward the teacher is often more potent in retaining her services than is any other factor.

I believe the teaching force we have at present, on the whole, is fully the equal, and, perhaps, somewhat superior to that found in the average country town. Their interest and enthusiasm in their work is very gratifying.

THE WORK IN GENERAL

The schools in many sections have been the subject, of late, of much criticism, because of the fact that the impression has gone abroad that they are neglecting the so called fundamental subjects, and that children are coming out of our schools unable to read and write and "cypher" as they should. These assertions are, as a rule, given out without any substantiating proof as to their truth, and, in the majority of instances, the people responsible for them have very little actual knowledge of the conditions on which to qualify as critics.

Whatever may be the condition, however, in other localities I am quite sure that in Dublin we are giving these so called fundamental subjects their proper amount of time. Of course, individual children always have and always will go through the schools and come out unable to read fluently, to write legibly, or to figure correctly, but, on the whole, this is not a correct criticism.

The following is a brief review of what we are attempting to do in the fundamental subjects.

We have a system of spelling selected, after much consideration, of modern methods, which is producing results in this subject. Each grade has a definite list of words for the year. These are studied and learned after a definite method of procedure, and frequently reviewed. No attempt is made to teach, in a general way, unfamiliar and seldom used words, but attention is centered upon words in ordinary usage.

In January a test in spelling was given to all the schools in this supervisory union, fifty words being given each grade taken from the words they had studied since September. The schools of Dublin averaged 72.5% in this test. While this was not the highest in the union, it was better than the average attained in a similar test last year. The Number Three rural school headed the list of rural schools in the union with an average of 90%.

During the early part of the winter the State Department sent out tests in spelling and arithmetic to be given to all eighth grade pupils in the state. In the spelling test an average of 74% would have been creditable. Our eighth grade had an average of over 80%.

The Arithmetic test was the same one that was given in Springfield in 1846 to a group of ninth grade children. The ninth grade at that time would correspond, in our system, to the first year in High School, consequently the children in Springfield averaged about a year older than our children. This test was given to all eighth grades in New Hampshire. The class in Springfield in 1846 attained an average of 29%. Our eighth grade average was above 50%. Certainly Arithmetic is being as well taught in Dublin in 1924 as it was in Springfield in 1846. Of course, the results given above are not as good as we could wish them to be, but it shows that we are not losing ground, but, on the contrary, making progress in the mastery of these fundamental subjects, as we should.

Emphasis is being placed upon writing, especially in the lower grades. A new system of writing has been introduced into the schools called the Houston System. While it has been in use hardly long enough to measure definitely the results as yet, I am quite positive that they are going to be satisfactory. In many individual cases great improvement is already noticeable especially in the everyday writing of the children, which, of course is the ultimate test of the value of any system. The aim is not to produce fancy penmanship, but to develop an easy, legible style of handwriting. The daily schedules call for, at least, a twenty minute period for writing. The attempt is made to have the children carry over into their general writing the instruction they receive during the writing period.

Reading, perhaps the most important of the school subjects, is being continued in all the grades, and plans are being made to put special emphasis upon silent reading. The purpose of this silent reading is to teach the child to get the thought from what they read. Many children can read words, but do not get the thought from what they read. Being unable to do this they are handicapped in all other school work. The purpose of the systematic teaching of silent reading is to correct this.

Such, in brief, are some of the things we are attempting to do in the fundamental subjects. They are not being neglected, but are being emphasized.

ATTENDANCE

There were 79 pupils enrolled in your schools last year with an average membership of 60.5, and an average attendance of 54.6. The per cent of attendance was 90, not up to the state average of 93.4%. The number of tardiness was 373, an average of about 4.7 per pupil in enrollment. This is much more than it should be. Absence is frequently excusable, but tardiness seldom ever is, and is simply a bad habit that the children get into.

CONCLUSION

The Winter Carnival held last year, and continued this year, have proven to be very enjoyable affairs, and much credit is due to the teachers who have initiated them and carried them out so successfully. It is an excellent idea to have the children of all the schools get together at least once a year in this manner.

At the graduating exercises last June a class of six were graduated to enter High School.

Exercises have been held in the different schools commemorating the special days that occur during school time.

To all who, by their interest and cooperation have helped to make the work of the schools a success, may I express my appreciation.

Respectfully submitted,

L. E. PRIOR
